Comments: My family and I are for the lemon gulch trail system. My family and I are active and frequently hike, bike and run in the Ochocos. Outdoor recreation is currently a driving force in our local economy and the demands are greater than the available systems can maintain. The current trail systems have not negatively affected livestock or wildlife and I do not expect a well designed system with adequate drainage will damage this area. It will allow people to get off the roads and experience the ochocos on foot or bike which should decrease the stress in the local flora and fauna.
