Comments: Our public land is exactly that: our public land. Giving into the demands of private companies will not only make them more powerful, but take away everything we as the public have worked so hard to keep. Private companies have been showing time and time again that they do not care for the natural beauty that Montana provides, and wants to take away that beauty for the sake of profit. With this being said, I, and many others, disagree with the East Crazy Inspiration Divide Land Exchange.
