Comments: I've been riding bikes since I learned to walk. At 14 my life outside of school is all about cycling.

Mountain biking is a great way to stay healthy, make friends, and be a part of the community. I also like to give back by doing trail work. The lemon gulch project is such a cool way to add new and amazing trails to central Oregon for kids, adults and families to enjoy. I support more trails to get more kids on bikes and more families outside.
