Comments: While I can appreciate the government and Department of Defense needs for the minerals that will be mined at this site, I am also concerned about the additional damage that will be done to Earth's Environment and with the environmental crisis the world is currently facing, if there is any upside to this project, except to fatten someone's wallet.

I think if they want to mine the minerals, then they need to spend most of the proceeds received to projects that actually will benefit the environment to pay back for the damage that will be done.

Thank you for your time and interest.
