Comments: Hello,

Please take 'NO ACTION' on the East Crazy Inspiration Divide PEA. I started to hunted, hiked and fish the Crazy Mountains in the early 1960's and I find it very troubling to see how the Forest Services is losing site on the value of wild places.

I was very disappointed when the Forest Service traded away the west side porcupine-lowline trail and built the higher elevation trail. The lowline trail was a perfect place for the older generation. It was a gentle trail that I hiked with friends and grand kids but now can't access the new trail due to the elevation. Now the same is happening on the east side. What shame.
