Comments: I would like to express my objection to the current proposal as it stands. While I understand the need for compromise, the public simply gives up far too much in this exchange.

1. The public loses miles of fishable streams
2. The public trades high quality, low-land wildlife habitat for higher, steeper, less productive habitat.
3. The public loses hunting and angling opportunity
4 The public loses more water rights than it gains
5. The public gives 100% of mineral rights and receives only 18% in return
6. The public gives up two important and historic trails and four administrative roads in return for one trail.
7. The public loses over 40 acres of wetlands
