Comments: Large corporations and the government continue to act as if we can plunder nature to no limit. As if we cannot see the chaos this mentality has already unleashed on the world. If we continue on this path, with projects like Stibnite Gold Project EIS #50516, we will all perish for the greed of a small handful of wealthy people (mostly white men).

This project does not serve the interests of Idahoans or the the interests of the environment.

As for the claim that gold and antimony are "greatly needed," that is only true if your primary concerns are the profit margins of huge tech companies and the military industrial complex. If we truly care about fighting climate change, this mine must be stopped.
