Comments: As a fifth generation Montanan, I am totally opposed to the Crazy Mountain Access Project. Once again the U.S. Forest Service has left documents to pile up and the public to remain unaware. I would support Alternative Plan B that would consolidate Public Lands and Access that would be good for the future of wildlife, public access, and will provide new opportunities for the next generation of public land users. Alternative Plan B would be more respectful to the Indigenous Peoples' who hold these areas as sacred. I back the ideas that we must consolidate public lands and access as too many are blocked with as little as 10' wide purchases that keep us from accessing U.S. Forest Service and BLM lands. Too many wealthy individuals and corporations are blocking us from lands my relatives have camped and fished on.
