

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/6/2023 1:20:19 PM

First name: Michael

Last name: MacPherson

Organization:

Title:

Comments: There is one thing all loggers, mining operations, and the fossil fuel Industry have in common, they are run by sociopaths, they only care about money and power. The US is designed to be for the corporations, the rich, and politicians, that is why none of these groups are ever prosecuted for committing crimes. So they are incapable of enjoying the wilderness, Wildlife, and the environment, because they only see everything as how profitable it is, and believe anything that they cannot profit from is a waste with no value at all. These groups are also very rich and bribe anyone they need to, to allow them to destroy the earth for their profits. We have a corrupt country with politicians who get into office, not to work for the people, but to get rich, by taking bribes from companies, corporations, and politicians who consider themselves above the law, they even get rich using insider trading, that everyone else goes to prison for.