Comments: I ask you humbly to do your best and scrap the Scripnite Gold project which will cause catastrophic harm to the local fish such as salmon, steelhead and bulltrout.

Furthermore there would be massive impact to the River of No Return Wilderness including noise pollution, wildlife disturbance and displacement and increased pollution in the river. These need to be THOROUGHLY investigated without any glossing over of the harmful impact they would have on the environment. These chemicals are cancer causing and will impact local communities who have the right to file for damages to their health. In other words lawsuits. And quite rightly so! Why should the mine damage their health and the surrounding environment and not pay for it? Why is this allowed in the first place especially when our environment is so fragile?

This is not acceptable and should be reviewed and thrown out as it is harmful to everyone concerned except those making a profit.

People and Planet need to come BEFORE profit. This area is too special to be contaminated by a one off gold mine. Why is the gold more important than the resulting pollution? The Gold Project is not environmentally viable and does more harm than good. NO amount of gold will make up for the resulting harm and decades worth of destruction it will leave as a result of the toxic process involved.

Thank you.
