Comments: The damage caused by the prior mine has not been cleaned up, but the Forest Service is considering allowing a much larger mine. The mission of the Forest Service is to sustain the health, diversity, and productivity of the Nation's forests and grasslands to meet the needs of present and future generations. It appears that to comply with its mission, the Forest Service needs to make sure the damage from the prior mine is cleaned up and the Forest Service should deny the permit for the proposed new mine.
