Comments: Please do not go forward with the mine project. This is a prsitine watershed, suppoorting a variety of wildlife (including salmon), native people, and delicate ecosystems not found elsewhere. Allowing another country to come in and take away this precious preserved ecosystem should be considered abhorrent. As our global population continues to grow, we are facing ever increasing threats of new diseases, hunger, and poverty. Biodiversity, like what is found in this watershed, will be of irreplaceable value in the coming years. I only hope that policy makers and forest service representatives can recognize this before this watershed and its biodiversity is destroyed by toxic mine waste.
