Comments: Please consider the following:

Central Idaho waterways already face significant threats to its hydrological function, habitat and use, both municipal and agricultural. Clean water is more valuable than gold. If western states trend toward this style of infrastructure our access to clean water will continue to be neglected. If this project is approved, an unfortunate precedent will be set.

Gold.org suggests the demands for gold in the U.S. are jewelry, investments and technology. Lets prioritize our Resorces.
