Comments: To Whom It May Concern,

It has recently come to my attention about an upcoming proposal for the Stibnigh Gold Mine Project and I have several concerns:

1. How is this project going to impact transportation along highway 55 and will the yearly trucking traffic to and from the mine come through Boise, Eagle, Cascade or other towns in the area?
2. What will the arsenic levels be from this operation and does that pose a significant health impact to the public?
3. Will the mine impact native fish populations and what can be done to minimize or prevent this?
4. How is the mining operation analyzing its effect on climate change and will it lower its carbon footprint to acceptable levels?
5. Finally, is it possible to get an independent analysis conducted to address these concerns and unearth any other potential hazards to the public and the local environment?

thank you for your time and consideration,

Seth Thomas
