Comments: I can firmly oppose the Stibnite Gold Project for a verity of reasons, and all of which I'm sure have already been made throughout the comment period. As an outdoorsman I worry that the project will be a detriment to the ecosystem that surrounds the area. The river systems that support the already imperiled salmon and steelhead, the access for recreation that families have been doing for generations, and the tribal lands of the Nez Perce will be inaccessible. The public land that we own will never again be the same as it is now, and all for the cost of extraction of minerals.
