Comments: The Salmon river is a wild and magnetic area. I feel like they are very few areas left in our country that are as desolate as this area making it that much more of an amazing place. Putting a mine in this area would take away from that claim. People travel from all over the world to experience this wonder because of how separate it is from the outside world. Please consider rafting or hiking around the area to admire its beauty and how special of a place it truly is before making any irreversible decisions.
