Comments: Dear Forest Service and BLM,

As a regular Kayaker on the south fork of the salmon and fisherman, I am adamantly opposed to another Goldmine on this river system. There's not a gold mine in the United States nor the world, where arsenic and other deadly chemicals to people, to fish, and to wildlife haven't been spilled out of pipelines or leach fields that would threaten our fishery quality of our water and the experience of our recreation. Idaho's threaten salmon face enough challenges stibnite mine would be catastrophic to the already expensive, difficult, and challenging efforts to restore our salmon, let alone save them from extinction. The costs are too great for this mine to be permitted, please do the right thing, and keep the gold where it belongs, in the ground where it belongs.
