

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/10/2023 3:19:46 PM

First name: Carolyn

Last name: Murrey

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Open pit mines are known for creating waste and air pollutants. Some of this waste may be toxic due to unextracted sulfide minerals. With the proximity of the project site being so close to the Salmon River, acid mine drainage is a serious concern. Idaho's wildlife and lands deserve to be protected from the known dangerous impacts of mining.