Comments: Hello, I'm writing this to urge caution on the part of the forest service. Please don't allow this mine proposal to go through. The area the proposal indicates includes some of the most rugged wilderness/land in the lower 48. Is it really worth putting that land at risk? How about putting those rivers at risk? Tourism, hunting and rafting, these are things that can contribute to the economies where this mine is proposed. If you go through with this mine proposal how will tourism opportunities be impacted? Please don't put the beauty of your state in jeopardy, Idaho is too great a state for that.

Thanks
