Comments: To whom it may concern

Going forward with the Stibnite mine is unconscionable! It will cause ecological disaster that will take centuries to repair. To allow mining in such a fragile and pristine Salmon River watershed is unthinkable and it dismays me that we are even having to fight this fight. The Southfork river is a sacred place for my family and me as we have recreated there for three generations. It is also critical habitat for salmon runs which are in an incredibly vulnerable state. Adding toxic chemicals and additional sediment to the watershed would have disastrous effects. I am vehemently opposed to the Stibnite Mine!

Sincerely,

Kirsten Evensen
