Comments: I object to the proposed project. As someone who has worked in the outdoor industry in Idaho, I say with great confidence that Idaho's unadulterated Salmon River Drainage is the state's crown jewel! I have had the privilege to experience all of the main river trips in the drainage. Not only do the vast stretches of wilderness inspire those who dare the voyage, they fuel a significant economy centered around this wild place. Development of any kind is guaranteed to impact this impressive corridor, those who enjoy it, and those who depend on it.
