Comments: I have spent my whole life in Idaho, and after growing up in the state, I can appreciate the beauty more than that of someone who has just moved here. I can appreciate Idaho's beauty so much because I have witnessed almost every environment that Idaho has to offer. After viewing the peaks that reach up through the clouds and witnessing the diversity in the plant and animal life, how could anybody want to diminish that. If you have experienced the true outdoors of Idaho, then you know that an idea like building a mine would never cross your consciousness. Building a mine in an area that has never had any structure on it before is wrong! Especially when the mine is intended to be located directly at the source of the east fork of the salmon which will displace around 392 million tons of heavy metal laden and possible acid generating materials. This will ruin the direct area around the mine as-well as the east fork of the salmon forever! If you tate the prestige land with a mine, that would be the end of Idaho's wilderness as we know it today! So I, and most everybody else in Idaho are begging that this mine does not get built.
