Comments: I am totally against the "Landscape Project" especially the gravel pit. It's too close to houses, would interfere with hiking and biking on the trails, and the noise and dust particles would present a significant health hazard, and increased fire hazard with all the activity. The elk and deer population are plentiful on Jackson Mountain. And there is what's been referred to as the Jackson Mountain Elk Herd present for many generations. I suspect this activity of the gravel pit, crushing the rock, and all the improved biking trails would chase them away which would be tragic.
