Comments: While I am not an engineer or a commercial producer of fossil fuels, I have standing as a citizen, a parent, a grandparent and a senior observer of the subject matter. We are killing off our ecosystem with this addiction to fossil fuels, jeopardizing the future of all species and our offspring. The time has come to turn the ship. Regulators must utilize the tools that are available to end the expansion of fossil fuel infrastructure and profit-making immediately if we are to survive and thrive. That includes this project. What is the point of all the rule-making and analysis if we can't choose the paths provided to stop this self-destructive behavior?
