Comments: US Government destruction of the natural world for the benefit of industry is unacceptable. We are in a climate crisis and mass extinction. Cutting down forests now is the pinnacle of irresponsibility. This is just another example of how our government is out of step with the needs of its citizens. Large standing trees remove and store carbon and provide critical habitat. Cutting them down leads to the release of large amounts of carbon and the destruction of habitat. If we are to maintain a livable planet for ourselves, our children, and all future generations, we need to stop destroying our world.
