Comments: I love the Green Mountains!

One would have to be living under a rock to not know how crucial it is for this planet's survival to preserve as much mature forest as possible for carbon sequestration, biodiversity, flood control, clean water... beauty and peace of mind.

This logging is unnecessary and wrong, especially now, when our climate and our planet are in peril.

Retrain loggers for renewable energy work and forest conservation. At this point, if the argument is keeping logging jobs, it's not the answer we can all live with, literally. hard choices must be made for the good of all.
