Comments: To whom it may concern,

Keystone Pipeline.

With three significant spills in five years, this pipeline was touted as "safe" when it was laid. While nothing is 100% safe we should most certainly not be putting our forests and public lands at an increased risk of ecological disaster. Pipelines leak and put the areas that they are in at an increased risk of harm from construction equipment to leaking pipes. You put this pipe in an area that may be prone to landslides and is harder to access because of its location and you are creating a recipe for an ecological disaster of which Virginia has never seen, one that would take decades if not longer to fix.

The Mountain Valley Pipeline is a bad idea and should not be built.

Respectfully,

Russell C.
