Comments: I grew up here in rural Vermont and am a 6th generation Vermonter. Previous generations of our family were farmers and have protected woods, field, streams and animals on our properties. Please do not consider cutting on this property owned by all people. We are in a climate crisis and old trees are far more capable of protecting than newer younger trees. Our government which your U S Forest Service is a part of needs to protect people and not contribute to the harming of all living things i.e. people, plants, animals and of course trees. This proposed project is an outrage. This property belongs to all people. Stop the madness. Listen to the scientists.
