Comments: If you don't understand why biodiversity matters, please find out! Human life now and even more in the future depends on the ecosystem services provided by intact mature forests. Don't believe me? Please find out! It's the most important research you're likely to ever do. You're OUR Forest Service, so please serve ALL of us, and not just timber interests.

Roads seriously damage biodiversity. The Telephone Gap timber sale proposes nearly 2,600 acres of logging inside the 16,000-acre Pittenden Inventoried Roadless Area, second largest in the entire Green Mountain National Forest and one of the largest wildlands in Vermont. Please keep this area roadless!
