Comments: I don't understand how greedy and indifferent humans continue to be. Vermont is supposed to be the green mountain state and yet you want to continuously log and remove all the green mountains from the state. The environment does have the ability to stop the corrupt and greedy people that continue to destroy this planet. Earth is the only planet humanity and all her inhabitants have and yet people like you want to continue to destroy her, remove the most natural resources needed to clean our air, our drinking water, to allow all how exist on this planet to breath.

Stop your greed, stop your corruption, stop your destruction of this planet. People without money, without power, without control, can't stop the greed that is people how continuously destroy this planet and those who live and try to exist on it.

Stop your greed! Don't you dare take away more trees... stop!!!
