Comments: Natural species are being endangered in many ways at a time when our planet is suffering from all kinds of negative influences. The time is long past when serious action needs to be taken to offset some of these situations. Logging , in particular, must be minimized since it destroys the trees which do so much to reduce carbon in the atmosphere and which also provide life for the hundreds of natural species which live in and depend upon the forests for their existence. Together we urge you to take the necessary action to preserve the 12,000 acres in the Green Mountain National Forest that have recently been rescheduled for logging.

Sincerely,

Charles and Jeanne Hawthorne
