Comments: At a time when the planet is going up in smoke, dying big bit by big bit, strangling under floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, forest fires, earthquakes and droughts, any plan that would cut down old growth forests is not only irresponsible but criminal. There is no excuse for the kind of greed that would drive an action such as this. There can be no telephone connection that is not available via other means and that would justify the kind of destruction of large numbers of old growth trees, the best means of cleaning carbon from the atmosphere. I urge stopping this action immediately and a serious search for a better solution!
