Comments: I am very familiar with this area. Having hiked, biked, skied, snowshoed, and even a little snowmobiling much of it in the past 37 years. I have some formal training in forestry. The forestry practices described here have all been recommended by professionals, taking into account conditions seen in field surveys. I like the developments, finished and proposed by the ridgeline collective, and the velomont trail. These developments put the public in public land, yet tread lightly overall.

In that vein. My wish going forward is to have skid roads left in good condition. Back dragged if possible, with no crowns of trees left across them. This allows better access to our lands for walking, xc skiing etc.

On a broader forest wide note, please more plowed winter parking.
