

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 2/18/2023 5:42:50 PM

First name: Kate

Last name: Williams

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Old growth trees are much more effective at capturing & sequestering carbon than new young trees. There is no economic imperative for logging these old trees. Vermont's timber needs can be met by logging on private lands by private owners. Our state forests need to be preserved as part of our vital efforts to ensure a liveable environment for future generations.