Comments: Hi,

I enjoy the idea of expanding and developing trails to make the area more accessible to visitors year round, but I have a great deal of contempt for motorized boat and commercial docks. Motorized boats are loud and present an immediate danger to others on the water; they are also harmful from a generational perspective: polluting the water with inevitable spills, leaks, and litter.

This fear of pollution is doubly realized in commercialization, which invites seasonal labor to put profit over place. I already see the docks shackled closed during the off-season, empty coffee cups blowing in the wind; locals locked out of their own home, just like much of the downtown area.

My understanding is that if change must come to the area, then I would like to comment in favor of "alternative 6". If I recall correctly this is the alternative development plan that does not include docks of any nature. That is my hope for this Lingit Aani.
