Comments: I have lived 37 of my 73 years in the beautiful state of Vermont. I deeply appreciate the Green Mountain National Forest for what it gives us humans but also for wild life habitat especially those at risk for extinction, the long earned bat.
92% of the trees are classified as old in the forest. These are the best trees for climate mitigation. I am opposed to proposed logging of the Green Mountain Forest by the US Forest Service.
We need to protect out biodiversity. We need to think about the future of not only the state of Vermont but the country.
This is a bad idea.
Thank you for taking my comments.
