Comments: It is heartbreaking to think that the wild lands of Vermont, where I have spent precious time hiking with my family and enjoying the natural beauty of these old forests, would be logged. We have clear cut Vermont in the past, with disastrous results. Our children and our children's children deserve our commitment to the Green Mountains remaining green - a commitment from our generation to the future. I strongly oppose this project not only on sentimental grounds and through the connection to the land but to the harm done to the climate, native species, and watersheds affected. This project is unnecessary and reprehensible.
