Comments: As a property owner in Archuleta County, Colorado, I support development of this gravel pit. The county needs materials to maintain the hundreds of miles of roads they are responsible for in our county, and they need access to these materials locally. I believe regulations and engineering controls are available to mine gravel here in an environmentally safe manner. My property is located off County Round 500, which requires substantial maintenance due to it's location and the number of people that utilize it on a continuous basis.
