Comments: Dear "Forest Service":

The rampant abuse of commons and natural resources needs to end now. This proposal is but a microcosm of the extensive ongoing ignorance of our industrial, commerce-obsessed society. There is nothing symbiotic or harmonious about your proposal, the fact that "business as usual" always seems to go for profit numbers on a spreadsheet and not for true biological life is a broad topic, and the reckoning is already happening. Call it climate collapse, call it pollution, call it poisoning --- the terms are almost irrelevant at this point.

Ask the First Nation people in your area what they would do; ask the non-corrupt scientist what action will lead to the most benefit to all forms of life in the area. Take those two responses seriously then come up with a more gracious and strategic plan for the long term health of this area you are "responsible" for.

Take Life seriously.
