Comments: I agree with "thinning, regeneration harvesting, prescribed fire, fuel load reductions, watershed restoration. I disagree with adding 9.2 miles of ATV areas. And there should be less access to snowmobiles.

The more significant issue for me and recreators dislikes discussing is limits and less access. We continue to see more recreational pressure on sensitive areas and the destruction of wildlife habitats (their home) and corridors. The biological and wildlife studies are clear on our recreational impacts. The City of McCall Chamber of Commerce still promotes and encourages jumping off the trail. We need more education for recreators to make fewer impacts.

What Todd Wilkinson from Mountain Journal said about the greater Yellowstone ecosystem rings true here; " if this area is going to be saved, it may involve the need of saying yes to the idea of saying no. "
