Comments: Calling the project Jackson Mtn Landscape project is a misnomer. It has NOTHING to do about improving/ beautifying Jackson Mountain. The gravel pit will not only destroy the beauty and solitude of a portion of the mountain, but it will also disrupt the wildlife living there. It will adversely affect our property with noise, silica dust, water/slush runoff which will flow down the dry creek bed behind/ thru our property. The crushing operation - can you guarantee will not affect on the foundations of our house right BELOW the operation? Or the water system pipes or tank in this area? The loose gravel bed that is above our neighbor's house is currently too unstable to be used as an official entryway that it is marked as (that is now being removed as an official neighborhood entryway) - will it cause the rocks to break off and slide unto their property and house? Can you guarantee this too won't happen? Can you say no one will get cancer from the silica dust that the gravel pit will produce? You can't put a price on all the damages that will come from the pit. We understand the county needs gravel- look at other areas that are NOT around established communities/ neighborhoods.

We have no problem with the mountain bike park on Jackson Mountain. This will not affect the camping, hunting and hiking already in place.
