Comments: Bravo for making road repairs the number one priority. And the new trail head and parking for Goodwin Lake looks like an excellent solution.

I'm curious that there is no mention of Flat Creek Ranch, which sits at the very end of Curtis Canyon Road. Summer-long use by staff and guests must have some effect on the road. Do they have an obligation to contribute to upkeep?

There has been an increasing trend of campers accessing the sites early in the day and leaving chairs, tables, camper tops, etc. essentially gaming the "first-come first-served" rules. I wonder if there is a way to address that behavior.
