Comments: Cutting our precious forests is a travesty at this point in our fight to save the planet. I know your position is that you are doing this to create better conditions for wildlife and for tree growth. Wildlife and trees will do just fine without our interference, as they have for millions of years. We do not want to wipe our behinds with OUR(they belong to the people after all) precious trees. Let them continue to grow and thrive, adding one small link to the lungs of the world.
