Comments: It seems a bit unusual that a governmental agency that has a headline on this website that says: "USDA/USForest Service Caring for the Land and Serving People." Would consider allowing drilling without an Environmental Impact study. So Caring for the land is not TRUE? Serving the PEOPLE? Why is the USFS allowing this to go forward with out an Impact study? What about the land? What about the people? Water, air, animals and so on. I object to this potential harmful mine that the Forest Service is considering!!
