Comments: As a Registered Nurse who has served veterans for many years, I believe in the power of a project like this. Services like this for veterans have been shown to help them build community and assist with coping with things like PTSD, depression, and anxiety. I am also an environmental/nature/forest supporter and do consider the effects a project like this could have; however, if there are already old not-in-use buildings in the area, then why not make use of the space and get it updated? I believe the environmental effects that this project may have are worth the improvement of quality of life for some of our veterans. I support the Heroes Project at Icehouse Canyon.
