

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/11/2023 10:24:10 AM

First name: Maggie

Last name: McKee

Organization:

Title:

Comments: We are seeing the effects of climate change all around us, from wildfires to floods to droughts. Species are disappearing at a devastating rate. Now is the time to do everything we can to stem these losses and save our future. Trees fight climate change, reduce flooding, and provide habitat for wildlife. They clean the air we breathe. We should save trees, especially mature ones, out of pure self-interest. Use your power to protect the wilderness at Telephone Gap. It's an investment in our very survival.