Telephone Gap is not an area of Vermont I am familiar with. Although my wife, dogs, and I frequently hike the woods of Vermont we usually hike much closer to home. The reason is we work to keep our carbon footprint as low as possible. Now is the time for all of us to do likewise. Cutting a sizable amount of woodland is short term gain and long term pain. By pain I mean loss of an ally in doing thing to slow and ultimately turning climate change around. The forests are worth much more standing than cut down. Please do not permit this forest to be logged.

Thank you
