Comments: As a landowner in the Vermont current use program, my forest management practices are subject to having a updated forest management plan. It therefore appears irresponsible, if not illegal, for the USFS to be undertaking extensive programs such as the Telephone Gap Integrated Resource Project under a forest management plan that expired two years ago. Forest management practices as of 2006 are no longer valid in the current environment. I believe strongly that the USFS should defer its Telephone Gap project until such time as it has an updated forest management plan.
