Comments: The proposed logging of telephone gap is beyond irresponsible and unnecessarily destructive. It will ravage an old growth forest on public lands and those trees are crucial for storing carbon, filtering the air and maintaining the health of the overall forest and surrounding sources of water.

Over the last few decades, humanity has been making a series of irresponsible decisions to desecrate our natural world and we are feeling the everlasting effects. with each crime against our Earth, we dig ourselves deeper into a pit that it becoming impossible to climb out of. Each action has its own devastating consequence, and with each humanity will feel a sense of regret when the subsequent global crisis occurs.

Please, while this forest is still alive and standing, make the decision that is responsible for our Earth, instead of wishing you had when disaster and consequence occurs.

For our present and our future, our children, our families and our world, leave these precious old growing trees standing.
