Comments: I am again commenting on the seeming endless development and privatization of " our " national forest.

It is apparent Taos Ski Valleys Special Use Permit has turned into endless elite development with out a land cost to it's developers. Access is a pay to to play that has out striped many locals budget.

Cost aside the impact of the developments impact to the sensitive alpine environment continues to degrade habit and water quality of the Rio Hondo drainage. The construction and subsequent operation will increase erosion and will only increase the amount of silt and other contaminants going into the water shed.

As I understand when these permits are opened. They are opened to change maybe unfettered access to our forest should be on the table as well.

" Cui Bono" Who benefits?
